Eau de Parfum · 20 % oil

Antinoos

Raspberry first, then benzoin under it after about an hour. Oud and frankincense by the evening. It's an oriental, so it sits heavier in cold air than in July.

PRICE

The liquid is the cheapest part of it.

Nobody outside that company knows exactly what a €375 bottle costs to fill. What is not really in dispute is that the liquid is not most of €375. We spend ours on the oil, and the numbers are below if you want to check them.

A designer 100 ml	€3,75 / ml
Antinoos 30 ml	€1,33 / ml

64 % less, millilitre for millilitre

You will see 87 % quoted around this category, against a €300 bottle, and we used to quote it too. It sets a 50 ml against a 100 ml, so we stopped.

NOTES

- Raspberry — from the first ten minutes — TOP
- Benzoin — from about an hour in — HEART
- Oud, Frankincense — still there at the end of the day — BASE

The same fragrance, bottled at three oil concentrations

More fragrance oil creates a richer scent with stronger projection and longer perceived wear.

MADE IN SWITZERLAND

Luxury fragrance without luxury theatre.

Kazaar develops fragrances in Switzerland with high perfume-oil concentrations and a simple idea: customers should pay for the scent itself, not expensive advertising and prestige retail margins.

BEFORE YOU BUY

Does it smell like the original?

Same accord, composed by us: raspberry, benzoin, oud, frankincense. Whether it reads as close depends a lot on your skin, and on which concentration you pick. About one in ten people tell us it does not work on them at all. We would rather you knew that before you opened it than after.
